Your Divine Money

Class 1 - Tapping

I want to do some tapping on the conversations or the fears; the things that you guys sent to me (which was go great and thank you so much for doing that). I did write them down before we started. Some of these were around the money:

- “I’m just not making enough in my healing business.”
- “I find it so hard to charge a fee.”
- “I want more money but I feel guilty asking for more. Can it be easy? How could it be easy?”
- “I’m really trying to start my business but where’s the money going to come from?”
- “I have these dry spells. I’m struggling with “lack.” I’m struggling with the lack of clients and lack of income.”
- “I want to grow my list with these great clients who have the desire to buy but I don’t know how to do that. It’s just taking so long. Where’s the money going to come from”?

That’s the work that we’re going to be doing some tapping on right now as a group. So, everybody, just play with me here; we’re going to do some tapping. You can do your karate chop or you can do your sore spot; either way.

I'm just not making enough money in my business. I want to make more.

(You can say it to yourself, you can say it in your head, you can just listen as I do it, but do some rubbing of your sore spot or the tapping on karate chop while you do this.)

I'm not making enough.

I'm not making enough. Where is the money going to come from?

I find it so hard to charge money and to charge really what I'm worth. How is that possible?

I mean, I know the difference what my work makes. But it's really scary to charge what I'm worth.

What will people think?

They'll think I'm just greedy.

If I ask for what I really want to charge, I don't think people will pay for it.

Because sometimes, they get kind of polite and they just go, "Okay, thank you."

They don't actually buy.

They don't say "yes."

They don't become clients.

And I know the difference that my work can make.

(Start tapping.)

I'm just not making enough.

I really want to make more.

I find it so hard to ask.

I don't want it to be hard.

I want it to be easy.

I really want to make more money.

I feel guilty asking for more.

I feel greedy.

I feel sinful.

I feel naughty.

I just want my bank account to grow.

Can it, please, just grow and expand?

If I have more and more money in there, that would be so awesome.

Does it have to be hard?

I just want it to be fun. I just want it to be fun!

I don't want to feel badly about wanting money.

I don't want feel guilty about wanting money.

As a matter of fact, I want to feel fabulous about wanting money.

I want to feel good about wanting money.

I want to feel good about asking for money.

I don't want to feel ashamed.

I don't want to feel like I'm taking more than my fair share.

I want to feel good about it.

The Divine is unlimited.

Spirit is unlimited.

The Universe is unlimited.

Why would I feel guilty about asking for abundance?

Maybe the only thing stopping me is "me."

Maybe the only thing stopping me from having more is "me."

...my feelings of not enough,

...my feelings of not being good enough,

...my feelings that it's too hard.

If that's the case, I wonder if I could just relax a little bit and trust.

And trust that it is true that the abundance that exists is also there for me,

...that the abundance that the Divine has is for me as well,

...the maybe I can create money when I want it.

I can learn how to do that.

Other people have.

Why not me? Why not me?

I'm willing.

I'm willing to learn.

I don't know what it looks like, but I do know there are others who've done it. And I can learn, too.

I am willing to say "yes."

I'm willing to receive.

I'm willing to be abundance in expression.

I don't know what that looks like in this moment.

At least, not in my business.

I know what it looks like in other areas of my life.

Because I looked in my pantry, there's abundance.

If I turn on the water, there's abundance.

So, why not have abundance in my bank account?

Why not see abundance in my client list?

Why not experience abundance in my mindset as well?

I can do that.

I can be abundance.

I can have abundance.

I can receive abundance.

I can be abundance.

I can experience abundance.

I say "yes!" to abundance.

And so it is.

Take a nice deep breath.

If you have water with you, you're going to drink some water later so you have the opportunity to do some more clearing.

Allow the energy to just clear it out.

Divine hugs,

Anne
